February 2005

Message from the Chair

Welcome to the ASGP's February newsletter. You should find plenty of information on developments within the Association and in particular the forthcoming conference in Manchester. This year's conference will be on 'Germany and Europe: Visions and Perspectives'. It will take place at Chancellors Hotel and Conference Centre, University of Manchester, 11-13 April 2005. The programme will feature a number of prominent guest speakers from Germany, the USA and the UK. Dr Claire Annesley is acting as the local organiser. I would like to encourage members and non-members to attend what I am sure will be a fascinating event.

I am pleased to say that after the temporary difficulties encountered in the takeover of German Politics by Taylor and Francis, we have now entered into a good working relationship with the publisher, which will hopefully also reap benefits in the collection and administration of subscriptions. Taylor and Francis is one of the top-ranked publishers of journals, with an excellent marketing record. The Journal is the flagship of our Association and I would like to ask members to support it in whatever way possible and to contribute to its growing reputation.

Like in previous years, we will announce the winner of the Annual ASGP Postgraduate Prize at the Manchester conference. I look forward to seeing you all in Manchester in April.

Chancellors Hotel and Conference Centre

The conference rooms are housed in the new part of the building and are fitted with all standard conferencing equipment. The 75 bedrooms (all non-smoking) are classically decorated and each of the rooms has an en-suite bathroom and is equipped with a desk, direct dial telephone, television, hair dryer and tea and coffee making facilities.

LOCATION

DIRECTIONS – HOW TO GET THERE

BY TRAIN

As you will no doubt be aware, long distance trains generally arrive in Manchester at Piccadilly Station. Either take a taxi (approx. 15 minutes) to the conference venue or take a five minute walk to Piccadilly Gardens Bus Station (see below). Cross-city trains can also arrive/depart from Oxford Road and Victoria Station.

BY PLANE

Getting to Manchester by plane is a relatively simple exercise, particularly if you are travelling from London. BA do a service from Heathrow leaving at 06h30 on Monday 11th April, returning at 18h25 on either the Tuesday 12th April or Wednesday 13th April. And the price of £65.90 is competitive (see <http://www.opodo.co.uk>). Various other options from Gatwick (BA again) or Stansted (Eastern Airways) are also available.

For those members in the far North, BMI do services from Edinburgh to Manchester (leaving at 08h35 in the morning, returning at 20h00 on both the Tuesday and Wednesday). Cost £135. Glasgow – Manchester also has a very viable connection (again BMI) for around £120. It is also possible to fly from Newcastle upon Tyne (Eastern Airways), but flights tend to be a little expensive.

Buses and taxis from the Airport

Manchester International Airport is approximately 5 miles from Chancellors (about 20 minutes by taxi). There are several bus services (express and local) from the airport to the city centre (journey time 30 to 50 minutes) although in truth it is probably best to travel either by taxi (for speed and comfort) or train (see below).

Taking the train from the Airport

Manchester Airport has its own station and it is well-connected with the outside world. There is a 24 hour service which runs 7 days a week, every 15 minutes during peak times and goes direct to Piccadilly. From the station either take a taxi or take the short walk to Piccadilly Bus Station and catch one of the many buses that follow the route to Chancellors and the Owens Park Campus.

BY BUS

Proposal of amendments to the ASGP Constitution

At its meeting in November 2004, the Executive Committee decided to undertake a review of the Association's constitution, with the aim of reflecting the way the Association has evolved, and preparing us for the coming years. A sub-committee consisting of Simon Green, Charles Lees and Carolyn Moore was set up, and the amendments will be put to the AGM for discussion and resolution at the Annual Conference this April. In accordance with Clause 16, the changes can enter into effect immediately. Many of the changes are of an editorial nature. However, we propose substantive amendments in the following areas:

Clauses 2 and 3: Reformulation of objective and membership criteria to specifically include non-UK residents; inclusion of reciprocal membership agreements. While the old formulation by no means excluded non-UK members, either on a full or associated basis, the sub-committee wanted to make explicit the Association's openness to other countries.

Clauses 6 and 7: Introduction of ex-officio membership of the senior member of the journal editorial team on the Exec, with authority to act on behalf of all editors at meetings. The aim of this is to establish better mechanisms of communication between the journal editors and the Association. This should be mutually beneficial: it makes the journal more accountable to members (who are the ultimate owners of the journal), and also gives the editors, as trustees of the single most important element of the Association's activities, greater input into the strategic direction of the Association.

Clause 8: Limitation of term of office of Hon. President to six years. This ensures that we do not impose on our Presidents for too long. On this basis, our current President, Wolfgang Streeck, who was re-elected by default in 2003, will be due to step down in 2006, when he will have completed two terms in office.

Clause 13: Formalisation of the Executive Committee's meetings on a biannual basis.

Clause 14: Formalisation of the Association's budgetary operation on a calendar year basis, and formalisation of the Treasurer's reporting duties.

Protocol on Cycles of Office: In the past, we have rarely been consistent in our appointment of journal editors and honorary president. In consequence, we are proposing a new protocol to lay down the years in which posts are to be filled.

Overall, the changes are aimed at bringing the Association in line with other comparable bodies. In particular, the role of the Executive Committee is formalised and strengthened, which will also help provide the officers with more support in the discharge of their duties.

Recent Publications by ASGP Members

Germany at fifty-five

Berlin ist nicht Bonn?

Edited by James Sperling

ISBN 0-7190-6473-2

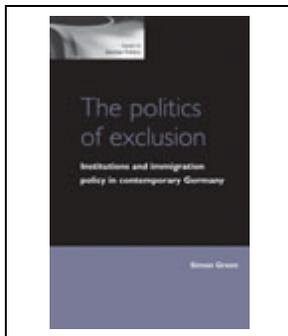

The 55th anniversary of a democratic Germany coincides with other important anniversaries in German history: the 15th anniversary of the fall of the Berlin Wall; the 60th anniversary of the Normandy invasion; and the 90th anniversary of the start of the First World War, the legacy of which haunted the Federal Republic at its founding in 1949. 'Germany at fifty-five' examines how these pasts have placed and continue to place constraints on the domestic and foreign policy discourse and practices, how they have both shaped and misshapen the evolution of the German political culture, and how they have hindered the reintegration of eastern and western Germany.

The politics of exclusion

Institutions and immigration policy in contemporary Germany

Simon Green

ISBN 0-7190-6588-7

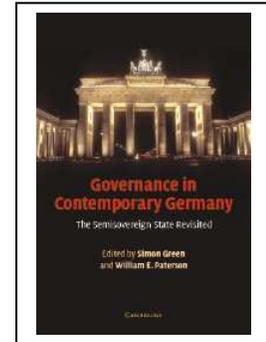

The politics of exclusion provides a new analytical perspective on immigration in Germany, tracing the country's immigration and citizenship policy since the Second World War. The book argues that institutional politics are central to understanding why Germany's policy structures have experienced only incremental change over the past 20 years, and have remained comparatively restrictive. With its lively and accessible style, the book will appeal to advanced scholars and students of immigration and Germany.

The Semisovereign State Revisited

Edited by Simon Green and William E. Paterson

ISBN: 0 5216 13167

Throughout the 1970s and 1980s, West Germany was considered to be one of the world's most successful economic and political systems. In his seminal 1987 analysis of West Germany's 'semisovereign' system of governance, Peter Katzenstein attributed this success to a combination of a fragmented polity, consensus politics and incremental policy changes. However, unification in 1990 has both changed Germany's institutional configuration and created economic and social challenges on a huge scale. This volume therefore asks whether semisovereignty still exists in contemporary Germany and, crucially, whether it remains an asset in terms of addressing these challenges. By shadowing and building on the original study, an eminent team of British, German and American scholars analyses institutional changes and the resulting policy developments in key sectors, with Peter Katzenstein himself providing the conclusion. Together, the chapters provide a landmark assessment of the outcomes produced by one of the world's most important countries.

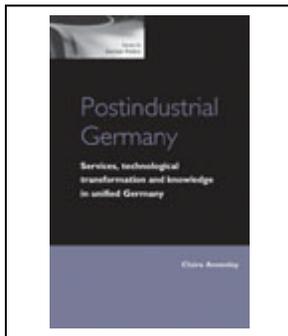

Postindustrial Germany

Services, technological transformation and knowledge in unified Germany

Claire Annesley

ISBN 0 7190 65364

This book is about the state of the German model of capitalism today. It is the first book to offer an integrated analysis of the political economy of unified Germany rather than dealing with east and west as separate entities. It challenges the standard view that Germany is lagging behind other capitalist states in the transition to a postindustrial economy, and looks in detail at the expansion of the service sector, the transformation of the industrial sector and the development of the knowledge economy in unified Germany.
